THE KEYWAY

March 24, 2006

President: Mark Burket

Editor: Jim Stevens

Friday's Speaker is JoAnn C. Kesmist, M.S.

With more than 25 years of experience in various facets of the health care industry, JoAnn Kesmist brings a unique combination of clinical, administrative, policy and business knowledge to her position.

Her diverse background includes small business ownership, non-profit oversight, clinical care provision, program design and development, healthcare change management, and health policy development at both state and local levels. JoAnn currently holds dual roles as Vice President at Sequoia Hospital as well as President of the Sequoia Hospital Foundation.

A longtime community leader, JoAnn was recently named the Athena Business Woman of the Year by the Redwood City-San Mateo County Chamber of Commerce.

One of the Chamber's highest honors, the Athena Award recognizes recipients for their demonstrated professional excellence, as well as their leadership role in community service and their assistance to other women in reaching their career goals.

In addition to her work at Sequoia Hospital, JoAnn has extensive experience on a variety
